Driver in Fatal Accident Is Held Under $100 Bail

OPERATOR "BLINDED" Motorcycle and Passenger Vehicle Involved In Oakford Crash

One death, that of a pedestrian, and injury of one other Bucks Countian, form the toll in weekend automobile accidents in the lower half of the county.

The dead: William Newell Bisbing, Sr., age 86, of 44 N. Church street, Doylestown.

The injured: George Hibbs, Hillside avenue, Langhorne R. D. 3, bruises of left side of body and chest.

The fatal accident occurred on Buckingham Pike, a quarter mile from the home of Bisbing. Bisbing, who retired from his position in Philadelphia five years ago, was walking along the pike, Saturday night, when struck by a car said to have been driven by William McMahon, 22, of Mechanicsville. McMahon was held in $100 bail.

The body of Bisbing was taken to Doylestown Emergency Hospital.

The driver of the car, a plumber's helper, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, in Edison, and held in bail to await the outcome of an inquest that will be conducted by Coroner Alfred Rigby of Cornwallwells Heights.

At the hearing, McMahon said he was blinded by the lights of an on-coming automobile and failed to stop his car in time to avoid striking the pedestrian.

Bisbing was employed in a Philadelphia department store silverware department for 40 years. He lived in Philadelphia until his retirement. He is survived by a son, W. Newell Bisbing, Jr., of Doylestown; three grandsons and four great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1950 N. Broad street, Philadelphia.

The accident in which Hibbs was hurt involved a motorcycle and a passenger vehicle and took place in Oakford at Maple and Magnolia avenues, yesterday.

Hibbs was operating a motorcycle and swerved to keep from hitting a dog, it is said, but collided with a vehicle operated by Charles Geist, Sycamore street, Langhorne R. D. 3.

Hibbs was treated at Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia.

Officer Munchberg of the Langhorne state police barracks investigated.

General Alarm Fire Sweeps Big Lumber Yard

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 26—A general alarm fire swept through the Wilson & Stokes Lumber Co. at 651 S. Broad street, yesterday, destroying virtually the entire plant and four neighboring homes. Four other homes were badly damaged. While company officials hesitated to quote figures, an unofficial estimate placed the loss at over $500,000.

Within minutes after the first alarm was placed at 3:49 p. m., the blaze had raced through two 100-foot-long sheds stocked with valuable millwork and huge quantities of Idaho white pine and turned stock piles of raw lumber into flaming pyres.

Dense, acrid clouds of smoke swirled some 200 feet in the air, shrouding the Chambersburg section of the city for hours.

Gains of two to four miles were slogged out by Allied units despite miring mud and heavy floods.

Lt. Gen. E. M. Almond, commander of the 10th Corps, declared that two North Korean corps opposing his troops had been totally destroyed in "combat effectiveness" by the Allied drive.

He said the more than 60,000 Reds on the east flank of the line had been put in "virtual rout."

Almond said that his 10th Corps has been destroying Communist troops at a rate of more than 1,200 per day over a 53-day period—a total of 63,600 enemy troops.

Almond's Corps is only one of three Eighth Army corps engaged in destroying Reds with "Operation Killer," which has accounted for more than 120,000 dead, wounded and captured Chinese and North Korean Communists.

THE WAR

By Howard Handelman

(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Feb. 26—(INS)—United Nations forces fought through mud and flooding rivers today to exploit a "virtual rout" of two North Korean Red corps on the eastern flank of the central Korean front.

In the center of the front, U. N. troops smashed several scattered counterattacks by Chinese Reds and jabbed new patrols into enemy lines, one of them across the Han river near Seoul to within 32 miles of the 38th Parallel.

Gains of two to four miles were slogged out by Allied units despite miring mud and heavy floods.

Lt. Gen. E. M. Almond, commander of the 10th Corps, declared that two North Korean corps opposing his troops had been totally destroyed in "combat effectiveness" by the Allied drive.

MEMO TO MILLIKIN

Attention: U. S. Senator Millikin, of Colorado.
Re: Attitude of Secretary of State Acheson

Notice is taken of your recent exchange with Secretary Acheson, in which you informed him that "it was a very offensive retort to our request, damned offensive," when the Department of State refused in 1948 to supply the Senate Finance Committee (of which you then were chairman) with secret data used in working our trade agreements with other countries.

Your comment is exceedingly to the point—it is indeed offensive that the heads of the Department of State should have refused to furnish such information to U. S. Senators at the very time when these same Department officials felt that "Wadleigh and Hiss could be trusted." The two men referred to have been identified as Federal employees who gave secrets to Red spy outfits.

Senator Millikin, it is doubtless a source of satisfaction to you to express your opinion of the various highly placed "public servants" who, elevated by the Presidential authority, have been so domineering and non-cooperative in their attitude to the people's branch of our government, which is the national Congress.

You must be aware, however, that this satisfaction is a most hollow triumph for you, and that the Federal officials in question, even though suavely deferential in the presence of committees, are growing progressively more arrogant and dictatorial in their dealings with the legislative authority.

This same Secretary Acheson to whom you addressed your remarks, for example, has been broadly accused of making false assurances to the U. S. Senate on the occasion of the ratification of the Atlantic Pact, assurances since repudiated by himself and the Truman Administration, to the effect that the terms of the Atlantic Pact did not require the U. S. A. to send troops to Europe except in the event of an attack upon some fellow member in the agreement.

False promises have been made time without number by members of the Presidential cabinet. Information has been wantonly suppressed over and again. It is conspicuous that there is a growing sense of defiance, manifest among the highly placed executive department officials of the national government; a spirit of holding themselves

MORRISVILLE MAYOR VETOES SALARY BILL

Tells Councilmen This is No Time to Ask For Salaries

BODY TO MEET LATER

MORRISVILLE, Feb. 26—This is an inopportune time to vote ourselves a salary in the light of having to increase taxes to meet our ever-growing expenses," Burgess William Burgess told members of council.

Burgess has vetoed the borough's salary ordinance which would give members of Common Council $25 a regular meeting and himself $41.50 for attending regular sessions.

Council met in special session Saturday afternoon on the veto and was told by Solicitor E. Dillwyn Darlington that it could take no action until the regular meeting on March 13th.

The Burgess, in his letter of veto, said he is heartily in favor of the balance of the salary ordinance, passed on Wednesday, which grants raises to various employees of the borough. He opposes, however, salaries for councilmen and himself.

"Inasmuch as each of the members of Council and myself presented ourselves to the public to be elected to public office and feeling we could be of service to our community, I do not feel that any remuneration for such service was anticipated or expected at the time of our election," he said.

"My personal feeling is that I am

ATOM PROPULSION

Newsman who were on the spot following a briefing last week of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy by AEC experts said there was quiet jubilation all over the place. The reason was that work on an atomic propulsion plant for one of the Navy's submarines was getting along much better than expected.

A bit more was added to what little was known of the project by a speech at Rochester, N. Y., by AEC Commissioner Sumner T. Pike. Briefly, he said the design for two "practical, though expensive" propulsion units is almost completed and one of them is partially built. He added it shouldn't be too many years before one or both of them should be operating in a submarine.

While atomic power in a submarine is a strictly military development, it follows that atomic power automatically becomes a possibility for surface ships, and for peacetime applications.

But think of a submarine, or any ship, being able to cruise endlessly and at will uninhibited by such vital considerations as fuel supplies! A helpful scientist has figured out that a teaspoonful of atomic substance will be the equivalent of several million times the same amount of ordinary propulsion fuel.

Add to this the fact that the portable atomic pile may be self-regenerating. Man has come in sight of the ultimate: Harnessed perpetual motion!

PRICE-FREEZE BABY

The administration's newest baby, the price freeze, shows signs of succumbing before it gets out of the political incubator. Only days old, it is suffering from malnutrition and a confusion of diagnoses by those in attendance.

No sooner had the nostrum been concocted than cries went up or modification of the prescribed dosage. Always quick to lend an ear to interests which control votes, the administration proceeded with alacrity to make it more palatable.

The government has already unfrozen many items and put them under a different sort of regulation which does not prevent increases in prices. The scheme now is to tell the retailer how much profit he will be permitted to make on any item.

Consumers are now being warned that prices will go up during the next few months and then level off. That last, of course, is only a hope.

Government regulation, whatever it may attempt to control, is proving increasingly futile. It has been tried too often and failed. The nation's economy operates on certain rules of practice established throughout the years.

For the government to attempt to become its head and arbiter is a gigantic undertaking for politicians whose security depends upon favors and manipulations. Little hope is held for the survival of the price-freeze baby.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Oct. 2, 1902. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

PENNS MANOR—On Tuesday our postoffice underwent a change. It was moved to the residence of W. I. Moon, he being appointed postmaster in place of Mrs. M. Neely, resigned.

LANGHORNE—A tally-ho party of nine friends of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Browning, of Philadelphia, made the county club their headquarters on Sunday.

TULLYTOWN—Charles R. Bennett, Elmer E. Johnson and Edward S. Stackhouse came home at noon on Monday after having had one of the most successful half days gunning reported for a long time. HUMESVILLE—J. Smoedley Estill, Jr., has taken a clerical position on the P. R. R. at Harrison, N. J.

The girls of Pettick & Company's mill got up a petition which was signed by the other employees asking the firm to close the mills on Saturdays at one o'clock instead of four and allow them to make up the time on the other days by beginning to work at 6:45 a. m., and 12:45 p. m., and working until 6:15 p. m. The firm granted their request and the mills closed down on Saturday at one o'clock.

EMILIE—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wink celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday at their home near Tullytown. Relatives were present from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Bristol and Emile.

YARDLEY—Dr. Linn Bassett, of Langhorne, will become a resident physician here in Yardley when Dr. Love goes away, taking his practice. Dr. Love contemplates going abroad in the near future, where he and Mrs. Love will travel for some time, and then the doctor will take up the study of the eye in Germany.

The Silver Leaf Flute and Drum Corps re-organized on Monday night and elected Frank L. Pierce manager. The corps will practice in the room on the town wharf, and will be open for engagements.

The license of a restaurant in Bristol has been transferred from Jane E. Blanch to Manus J. Sweeney.

A mud digger has been at work during the past week widening the channel in the two mile level of the canal.

The iron stack at the Bristol Worsted Mills will be taken down.

Compares Italian Crops To Those In The U. S.

EDGEWOOD, Feb. 24 — Robert Belleville, 3d, who formerly as a lieutenant colonel served in the Inspector General's Corps, spoke to members of Middletown Grange, Wednesday evening in the community house, here. He compared the "small, poor crops of Italy" with the crop wealth of the United States.

The wheat of Italy, he said, yielded but a few bushels per acre, and compared to the waist-high stalks of crops in this country, their 14-inch high grain would look very poor. Fields, there, too, he added, are quite small, and the soil is of extremely poor quality.

Farming conditions, he revealed, are all similar to those of centuries ago, with women sweating in the fields, and two-wheel carts drawn by oxen.

Mr. Belleville illustrated his talk with pictures he had taken in Italy during the last war. These included the tourist haven on the Isle of Capri. He spoke of the fishing fleets, which are drawn up on shore on Sundays for a day of feast. He also mentioned the weather which, he said, brought heavy rains in the spring with clear conditions from April through October.

Plans are in progress for the 75th anniversary of the Middletown Grange to be celebrated on March 21 in the Woodside Community House.

The 75th anniversary of the Pomona Grange will also be celebrated on March 7th at the same place. The next meeting will be held on March 14, at which time County Agent William F. Greenawalt will speak on the green pastures improvement program.

proud to have the confidence of the voters of Morrisville and feel sure at this time we should all be willing to sacrifice."

The salary ordinance was scheduled to go into effect on March 1st, but now cannot be effective until at least March 15th, depending upon what action Council takes in its March 13th meeting.

Although no action was taken, several members of Council expressed an opinion. Councilman Edward R. Roberts, Jr., James Walsh, William E. Anderson, Nicholas Misan and Albert C. Greco expressed opinions that councilmen should get paid. Walsh said he felt it was the first step in years to come when Council will be a full-time job.

Anderson said conditions two years ago didn't occupy as much time of Council as now.

Six favorite votes from the eight Council members are necessary to override the Burgess' veto.

Chief of Bristol Township Police Joseph Seader arrested the defendant, following the complaints of parents of two little girls, Sept. 16, 1950.
President Judge Hiram H. Keller halted the defendant's first trial, here, in December, 1950, when he learned that the defendant had been undergoing treatment in a mental hospital and had been shortly released from the Norristown State Hospital.
The little girls were seven and three years old and accompanied the defendant and his small son in a car to watch some cows and horses in a field. The defendant, employed as a buffer in Trenton, N. J., is the father of two small children.

superior to the legislative processes, and even to the scope of the Constitution.
Has it occurred to you that no member of the U. S. Senate who senses this unruly and dangerous drift toward dictatorship can exhaust his own responsibilities by the mere utterance of verbal protests?
The intention of the American Constitution that the Congress, as the American people's own special branch of the national government, should have the power of enforcing a sense of discipline in the national staff, is clear and unquestionable.
The machinery erected by the Constitution for this purpose was that of impeachment. Under the Constitution, Congress can impeach and remove from office any Federal employe or official for whatever cause two-thirds of the Senate can agree upon.
The current impression that the language of the Constitution, "treason, bribery or other high crimes or misdemeanors," limits the field of impeachment and removal to matters of a criminal nature, is a complete fallacy.
The House of Representatives can impeach for whatever reason it believes justifies this course, whether criminal or not; and the Senate, upon trial, is the complete arbiter not only in such matters as nature and admissibility of evidence, but upon the final question of what offenses shall or shall not warrant removal from office.
That this was the original, and still is the basic, intention of the Constitution is easily demonstrable in a single quotation from Madison (before Congress, June 16, 1789):

"Perhaps the great danger . . . of abuse in the executive power lies in the improper continuance of bad men in office. But the power we contend for will not enable him to do this: FOR IF AN UNWORTHY MAN BE CONTINUED IN OFFICE BY AN UNWORTHY PRESIDENT, THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CAN AT ANY TIME IMPEACH HIM AND THE SENATE CAN REMOVE HIM WHETHER THE PRESIDENT CHOOSES OR NOT."

May we respectfully submit to you that the duty of the national Congress, in dealing with recalcitrant and unruly members of the executive department, is to compel these public officials to display a decent sense of respect and cooperation to the legislative branch—which directly represents the true sovereigns, the American people, in these matters.

The recent trend of petty officials in the executive branch to set themselves up as "untouchables" is a distinct threat to continuance of constitutional government. It directly challenges popular sovereignty and representative republican principles.

One or two successful impeachments will do more to reestablish respect for Congress, the Constitution and the people than anything else which might be imagined. Anything short of that will almost certainly be construed as a confession of weakness on the part of our legislative branch.

Paragraphs of interest to those interested in the Bristol Young Men's Christian Association.

Plans have been announced concerning the selection of the YMCA Youth Basketball League all-star team. Ten players forming two teams will be selected. The method of selection will be based on three factors which will be weighed equally. The factors being: team play, meaning the ability to encourage and aid fellow players in victory and defeat; sportsmanship, ability to stay within the rules of fair play at all times; and finally skill, ability in the art of playing good basketball.

In the basketball league itself major changes were made in the standings of the first four teams—Croydon A. C. gained sole possession of second place, the Bristol Gunners moved into third place, while Bensalem dropped from second to fourth place. Perhaps the best game of the week involved Fourth Ward A. C. and Croydon A. C. although the game was won by Croydon by the score of 32 to 20, both teams played a good brand of ball as each attempted numerous plays. Again it was Coffman and Brady who led their team to victory, while "Tom" Brescia played one of his best games this season. In a somewhat more spectacular game Coffman made two points against Rohm & Haas in the last five second to give his team a 30 to 29 victory. In still another game Harriman Methodist upset Bensalem A. A. in a two period overtime contest 47 to 46. Norm Slaymaker totalled 19 points and grabbed many rebounds to aid his team. Captain John Ludwig did good work for his squad. Two other games were played last week. Rohm & Haas defeated Harriman Methodist 50 to 42, while Bensalem A. A. lost to the Bristol Gunners 32 to 21.

During the course of the season many volunteers refereed the league games. The four outstanding officials will be selected by the team managers.

Schedule for Week of Feb. 26 MONDAY—

6:30 Bristol Gunners vs. Croydon A. C.

7:45 Bensalem A. A. vs. Rohm & Haas

THURSDAY—

7:15 Fourth Ward vs. Harriman Methodist.

Tuesday evening there will be an important meeting of the Fourth Ward A. C. at 7 P. M.
Wednesday night will be Hi-Y Tri-Hi-Y night at the "Y".
The YMCA Midget basketball team won their first game by defeating the Harriman Midgets by the score of 17 to 10. "Art" Mancuso and Harold Saxton were the big guns for Jimmy Lewis' "Y" team as they combined to score 14 of the winners points. Augustine Marozzi's Harriman Squad couldn't find the range as they had numerous shots at the basket because they controlled the backboards. "Sonny" Liberty had 10 points for the losers while Snyder and Strong grabbed the rebounds.

The game was well officiated by "Mike" Capriotti and Joseph Puglise two volunteer youth leaders. These two teams have been re-matched for next Friday evening.
